

Changes in Radio Wave Lengths

Radio broadcasting stations WQW and WEBH, Chicago, which announced a change in wave length to 776 meters, to take place tonight, will not make the change but will continue on 270 meters until further notice.

A man in Illinois who wired CNRO, Ottawa, Wednesday night to get back on its wave length as it was shutting out WOS, Jefferson City, got a tart but dignified reply that CNRO was all right and he had better wire WOS. Thursday night was one of those nights when, probably owing to air conditions, CNRO was rather overwhelming and completely submerged WOS so far as most receiving sets are concerned. Probably neither station was off its wave length. Kingston fans will be comforted by knowing that there was the same condition in Illinois as in Kingston.

Additional changes in wave lengths recently made are WNAAC, Boston, 230; WREO, Lansing, 155.5; KFKX, Hastings, 238.3; WBAV, Columbus, 294; KFDN, Beaumont, 315.6; WOAJ, San Angelo, 394.5.

Youngest Man to Hold Post of Foreign Minister

H. J. Krocope, minister of foreign affairs of Finland, is just thirty years of age. He has the distinction of being the youngest man in the world to hold such a position.

Beef is Preferred Meat; Pork, Lamb Rank Next

Washington.—Beef is preferred over other meats on about 60 per cent of the country's dinner tables, but the average housekeeper can recognize only a few of the many cuts, the Department of Agriculture has found in a survey of the retail meat industry and consumer-buying habits.

Three of every five families visited by department agents in 15 widely separated cities rated beef as most popular. Pork was given second place by poor families, while well-to-do people put lamb next to beef. Veal was not generally mentioned except by Italians, who rated it the equal of beef.

The investigators learned that while buyers generally were attracted by quality, 43 per cent of the native white families bought from the nearest dealer. Only 25 per cent patronized shops five blocks or more distant.

Quoting figures on 1923 conditions, and covering a limited number of dealers, the report said the average consumer dollar netted the meat dealer only 1.7 cents profit, the meat costing 78.6 cents and other expenses totaling 10.7. A yearly sales volume of $14,000 was regarded as necessary to show a profit.

Town Buys Book That Gave America Its Name

Paris.—A copy of the "Cosmographic Introduction," in which the name "America" was first given to the continent as recognition by the author of the claims of Amerigo Vesputti, the Italian navigator, to be its discoverer, was sold at auction here recently, the town of Saint Die, Department of the Vosges, in which the book was printed in 1497, being the purchaser. The price realized was 25,000 francs.

Saint Die is proud of the title that has been applied to it of "America's birthplace," because of the name given the continent in the work that came from the press there, and the public-spirited citizens of the town responded readily to the solicitations of a book lover who opened a subscription to acquire the volume, although such doubt existed despite the considerable sum raised whether some wealthy American might not outbid the French town.

There are about a dozen copies in existence of the three editions printed. The one sold came from the Library of Congress.

Removing Ink Spot

A large blot of ink was removed from a delicate bedroom paper in the following manner. Absorbent cotton saturated with kerosene was applied to the ink spot, was allowed to remain until the ink was absorbed. Then talcum powder was rubbed into the wet rough paper, until the inked part dried up and became smooth. A rubber roller used for mounting pictures finished the job of smoothing.

Charming Silk Offering for Spring and Summer

This interesting model of pheasant and black silk was one of the smart modes for spring and summer shown at the recent revue of the Style Creators of America.

Collars and Cuffs That Are or Are Not Suitable

The high choker collar is not for the stout woman with a short, thick neck, says a correspondent in the Kansas City Star. It makes her neck seem shorter and thicker and gives her a choked appearance. The longer lines of the shawl collar are much more suitable. Generally the most becoming style of all is the long revers that extends to the bottom of the coat.

A woman with a very short arm should avoid fur cuffs, or any contrasting cuffs on her coat, because they cut the arm and add to its appearance of shortness. Since it is almost too much to ask a woman these days to do without fur on the sleeves of her coat, narrow cuffs are recommended. The new sleeve with fur extending almost to the elbow would be disastrous for her whose arms are short. Whenever possible the fur should be the same color as the coat, rather than in contrast to it.

Not content with fur collars and cuffs, this season's fashions have a way of taking unto themselves bands of fur about the bottom. Here, the stout woman should be cautious. If she be short in stature, a fur banded coat will break the long line for which she should always aim. But if she insists on such a style, the fur band should be as inconspicuous as possible. In this, as with the fur cuff, the fur is less harmful in its effect on her figure if it is not of a contrasting color.

The luxurious rippling, fur band about the bottom that comes with a flared model is neither for the stout, stout woman, nor for the tiny woman, for on the latter it is too heavy and gives the effect of weighting her down.

Black Velvet and Lace Liked by Debutantes

Black velvet and lace, once the costume of the dowager, is now the favorite frock of the debutante whose flare for fashion influences her in the selection of a combination of materials that is a perfect foil for her youthful charms.

There is something so naive about the black velvet frocks of this season, a certain sophisticated simplicity that is infinitely smart, and with their collars of beautiful real lace and their straight slim lines they are wonderfully distinctive.

One of the models recently seen is the perfection of smart simplicity. Fashioned of black chiffon velvet, it is a straight slender one-piece dress, loosely girdled with a soft wide sash of black satin tied in long loops and ends on the left side.

There is a wide collar of venetian point lace of a deep ivory tint, and cavalier cuffs of the same exquisite lace finish the sleeves which are long and tight. It is simple almost to the point of severity, but in a crowd of beautifully dressed women the girl who wore it stood out from the rest as distinctly individual.

One-Piece Frock Liked for Informal Occasions

The old-fashioned, stiff-collared and starched "shirtwaist" and the severely plain serge skirt, once worn by almost every female in the world of affairs, were impossible for evening elegance. But the current one-piece frock, shaped in various collarless ways at the neck and with countless sorts of trimmings and accessories to give it distinction, meets almost all requirements of modern informal dining and theater-going. The plainest black crepe de chine gown with the addition of a fresh scarf, gloves, flower at the waist and hat perhaps left off entirely will turn the well-dressed woman into a pleasure-seeker quite well enough equipped for ordinary occasions. Black is always in good taste, day or night, in thick or thin fabrics, and, if made after simple, distinguished models, lasts its owner a long time and is always a good standby; or one may choose flat crepe, in dull gray or wooded brown.

English Duke's Coronet

The coronet of an English duke consists of a circle of gold around which are arranged at equal distances from one another, are eight gold strawberry leaves. The leaves are called pearls by some authorities.

Rotary Welcomes Dr. Seeley Home

Kingston Rotarians at their luncheon on Wednesday expended a large amount of heartfelt enthusiasm in welcoming the Rev. Dr. Frank B. Seeley and E. W. Hathaway who have recovered from illness and Charles Ramsey, whose business engagements have kept him from meetings for some time. They also welcomed Peter Sinclair, a visiting Rotarian from Holyoke, Mass., and the Rev. Dr. Galbraith, of the Amsterdam, N. Y., Rotary Club. Dr. Galbraith spoke on work among boys.

The Kingston Rotary Club has purchased a moving picture projecting machine that meets with all the requirements of the insurance underwriters. This machine will be available, without charge and under proper supervision, for any kind of boys' work organization in the community and for civic charity work generally. On January 20, it will be used in the Industrial Home, on January 27 in the City Home, and on January 30, in the Ponckhockie Church.

NEW WIND TUNNEL AID IN BUILDING AIRCRAFT

Helps in Making Calculations for the Construction of Special Airplanes.

Washington.—The national advisory committee for aeronautics expects to gather valuable scientific information for use in building aircraft from experiments that will be conducted in its new variable density wind tunnel at Langley field, Virginia. This tank, said to be the only one of its kind in the world, has just begun to produce results.

The tank is 35 feet long, 15 feet in diameter and weighs 85 tons. It is mounted on a concrete foundation and is surrounded by a working platform.

Air pressure as high as 20 times atmospheric pressure is made possible. As men cannot work in a tank of compressed air, small glass windows are on the side to enable observers to gain scientific data.

A small model airplane is placed in the wind tunnel and mounted on a balance, or scale, which records the lifting characteristics of the airplane wings and the resistance of the whole structure. Through a honeycombed arrangement the air is driven through the tunnel with a smooth flow, with the airplane model suspended in its path.

By experimenting on models, accurate calculations can be made on which the design of the new airplanes is based. One of the greatest problems of today, the committee's officials declare, is the nonfunctioning of a plane's controls while it is flying at low speed, especially when taking off or about to land, thus causing accidents. To endeavor to remedy this condition and supply other valuable information, the committee's air wind tunnel has been brought into play.

The committee is an independent government establishment, which includes the most eminent men in aviation in the country, all of whom serve without pay.

Sports Make National Parks Self-Supporting

Washington.—Growing popularity of the country's national parks and their use for winter sports as well as for summer vacation visits are combining to make the parks self-supporting. It was pointed out in the annual report of the national park service.

The parks are being recognized, said the report, as ideal winter playgrounds, with exceptional facilities for skiing, snowshoeing and tobogganing. Revenues from national parks and monuments last year totaled $653,800, $180,000 more than for the previous year. Travel to them increased considerably over the 1923 record-breaking visiting lists in spite of adverse conditions such as quarantines and forest fires.

An urgent need for extending the boundaries of several of the national parks was emphasized, particularly that of the Yellowstone southward to include the Teton mountains and the area which is the breeding ground for the Yellowstone moose; that of Crater Lake park, northward to include the scenic Diamond Lake region and that of Sequoia park to include Mount Whitney and some of the Kings river country.

Cook of Walnut Acres was announced from his sister, the present Mrs. Carrie Smith, in 1904. A short time ago Cook, through friends, located his sister and she came to Los Angeles. The reunion was heightened by the visit of another sister, Mrs. C. E. Ferguson of Salt Lake City.

FIRST AMERICAN LOCOMOTIVE.
The first successful locomotive built in America was the "Best Friend," which was built at West Point Foundry, Cold Spring, N. Y., and was given its first trial 94 years ago today. During the previous year Peter Cooper had constructed a locomotive at his iron works near Baltimore. It was called the "Tom Thumb." It was tried on the R. & O road but was too small to have much practical value. A locomotive was imported from England in 1829, and served as a model for the American builders, although it was itself a failure.

ARGENTARIA PINALLA

Argentina Pinalla was the wife of Lucan, the Latin poet, who wrote a poem on her merits. This poem is now lost but her name is immortalized by two other poets of that age, Martial and Statius. Lucan was

CAMERAS TO BE USED TO TEST EINSTEIN THEORY.

Below are shown the cameras for the two "Einstein cameras" to be used by scientists at two universities, New Haven, Conn., during the total eclipse of the sun on January 24. Professor Miller, of Southern University, and Professor Curtis, of Alabama, are to use them in an effort to prove or disprove the Einstein theory of relativity. Professor Miller used the cameras in Mexico last September, but unfavorable weather conditions prevented him from securing conclusive results.

condemned to death by the tyrant Nero, who allowed him to choose the manner of death. He chose the warm bath and an open artery, but threatened his wife to live and transcribe his great poem, "Pharsalia," which she promised him she would do. It is said that after Lucan's death she shut herself up in a solitary retreat, with the bust of Lucan beside her, and there carefully revised his three first books of the "Pharsalia."

KEITHWICKSON.
Keithwickson, Jan. 15.—Master Carl H. Burgher entertained his Sunday school class Saturday afternoon. It being his eighth birthday, Mrs. O'Brien helped pass out the dainties, and about 4 o'clock refreshments were served, consisting of sandwiches, cake and ice cream and candy. Upon departing all wished Carl many more happy birthdays. He received many nice gifts. Those present were Corral and David Murphy, Nabel Hamilton, Donald Schaeffer, Gordon Fuller, Ethel Decker, Evelyn Decker, Walter Miller, Harry Decker, Kildred and Hamilton Sherman, Rae Windrum, Carlton Schoenmaker, Master Warren Churchwell, Mrs. Ray Windrum and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Churchwell.

Year's Activities of Y.W.C.A.

birthdays, at our October general membership meeting, and at many of our special Open House Nights, this committee has assisted and altogether many delightful get-together affairs have been held during the past year.

Our junior members are called Girl Reserves and many of them have gone into our clubs and are carrying on their own programs under the direction of the chairman, Miss Jennie Ruseley, and the club advisers. The emphasis in their work is upon the physical, social, mental and spiritual development of the individual girl and in their program they had recreation and parties, and parties, health work, dramatics, and inspirational talks and discussion hours. Aside from this program for themselves, each group has undertaken some form of service work and at various times, particularly at Thanksgiving and Christmas, they have bent their efforts to bring joy to those less fortunate than themselves. The total attendance in this department during the year was 3,416.

Dr. Day has been chairman of our Health Department, the program of which during the year has included gymnasium classes for children, older girls and women, supervised recreation, tennis and swimming parties during the summer, hiking, training of groups in folk-dancing. The Y. M. C. A. physical equipment has been rented during the year on Tuesday evenings (with the exception of the summer months) and swimming and bowling have been very popular. This fall and winter course in Red Cross life-saving has been conducted. Basketball has been a popular sport and a girls' Inter-Sunday-School Basketball League has been organized with twelve churches represented. The practicing is now under way preparatory to a series of regular games. Charles Warren has donated a silver cup which will be awarded the winning team. Aside from the league, other groups in the association are also playing basketball. At the outing held at Forsyth Park during our "birthday week," a series of pretty folk-dances was given by the Girl Reserves, demonstrating the work done along that line. An important part of the health work has been the physical examination which is required for participation in any strenuous activities. 277 girls have been examined by our local physicians. The total attendance in our regular classes for the year has been 2,154, while a much larger number have had the benefit of our trained leadership.

Our formal educational work is under a committee headed by Mrs. Frank Thompson. In the past year instruction has been given in basketry, millinery, dressmaking, hand-knitting, social dancing, ukulele, piano, and the Schubert Choral Club was organized through the efforts of this department with Miss Virginia Los Kamp as director and has been doing some very splendid work. The club gave a concert in May and has sung at various association activities. It is now preparing for its mid-winter concert at which time it is to bring Mr. Burleigh, the famous colored singer and composer, as the soloist. This fall the club formally organized and now is self-governing. The total number of girls registered in these classes during the year was 287. The committee has also been responsible for the pre-election talks and for a series of seven Lenten suppers when some very fine talks of a strictly religious nature were given. The supper plan has been continued with Miss Idella Hyde's committee on senior activities responsible for the preparation of the self-supporting suppers. The girls have organized and plan their own programs and activities. All the subjects discussed have been along educational and religious lines. The total attendance at the fifteen suppers held to date was 1,770.

Probably the most outstanding event during the year was the Sunday afternoon meeting which the Y. W. C. A. held at St. James' M. E. Church when Miss Margaret Slattery gave her address on "The Crystal Maze." Those who know the seating capacity of the church assure us that more than 2,000 girls and women were present. The message that Miss Slattery brought will never be forgotten by those who heard her. The selections rendered by the choral club also added much to the spirit of the meeting.

The girls of our senior department put on three plays in the winter and an ice cream festival in the summer, the proceeds being devoted toward their conference fund. At Christmas time they entertained about one hundred twenty-five children at a delightful party—children who otherwise would not have had a very merry Christmas. A group of girls from the Van Slyke & Horton factory regularly meets at the association for a lunch hour and other groups during the year have enjoyed many special picnics and good times through the Y. W. C. A. Early in the year, Admiral Higginson offered a prize of $25 for the best one-act play to be written by a

Y. W. C. A. girl. The prize was won by Miss Nan Rodie and the very clever play has been given not only at the local association, but at three of our local churches and at the Tuberculosis Hospital. Another special affair during the year was the concert put on by Mr. Allen and Mr. McClure in our hall, half of the profits being turned over to the Y. W. C. A.

Mrs. C. B. Dickinson and her committee have continued in their work of visiting homes where rooms are available and 240 people, most of them strangers and tourists, have been referred to rooms during the year. This committee also called together the trustees of the Y. W. C. A. and representatives from the schools and business houses employing girls and conducted with their help a thorough investigation into the matter of the need for a Y. W. C. A. boarding home. It was the unanimous decision of the committee that at present there was not sufficient need to warrant the association in establishing such a department.

The finances of the association have been carefully administered by a committee of which Miss Sarah Horton is the chairman, and Mrs. Joseph M. Fowler has acted as treasurer of the funds. At the end of our first fiscal year, May 31, 1924, the books were audited and pronounced correct by Mr. Turner, official auditor. The association, in spite of the fact that the program has been living within its budget, The $10,000 originally subscribed in the campaign for building fund, is not being touched for running expenses but is being kept for the purpose for which it was originally designated. About $2,000 remains yet outstanding in pledges made at the time of the campaign, and this amount with the balance on hand, will safely carry the association through its second fiscal year, which means until June 1925.

Matters pertaining to the equipment and oversight of the building have been in the hands of a committee headed by Mrs. E. F. MacFadden. Many needed things have been purchased during the year. The hall has been equipped for basketball and the accommodation of larger groups.

Two changes have taken place on the board during the year. Mrs. Ida LeFevre and Mrs. Elsie Myers Pultz resigning because of inability to give sufficient time to the association work. Mrs. Charles R. Hall and Miss Minnie Millard were elected to fill these vacancies. The board and committees have met regularly and worked tirelessly in carrying out their special responsibilities and whatever of success can be claimed is due to the faithfulness of all upon whom responsibility for the various tasks has fallen.

The secretarial staff has had one change, Miss Margaret Passmore, physical director leaving June 1st to continue her study and Miss Irene Redman coming to us the first of September to assume charge of the physical department. Miss Katherine Millard has done some substitute work during the summer in the absence of members of the regular staff.

The advantage of the association being part of a national organization has been much appreciated during the year. Both Poughkeepsie and Newburgh associations offered the use of their camps to the Kingston Y girls and 25 different girls enjoyed week-end parties and vacations at them. Four members of our association were delegates at the national convention in New York, four attended the mid-winter Girl Reserve conference in Troy, and two attended the business girls conference at Maquay, Maine. Four members of the staff of the national Y. W. C. A. have visited us during the year and assisted with special service or advice on local problems. Very frequently we are called upon to give information about associations not only in this country but also abroad, and in emergency cases we have been asked to assist the National Travellers' Aid Society.

The Y. W. C. A. has cooperated with various local organizations during the year, especially with the churches, the Home Bureau, the Y. M. C. A., the Federation for the Olympic fund, and the charity organizations. Frequently the gymnasium has been rented to groups for meetings and parties, thus serving them while giving us a most welcome revenue.

And thus we come to the close of our first full year of work and we feel quite overwhelmed when our statistics show us that a total of 22,426 have attended our Y. W. C. A. activities during 1924. But when we remember our goal, we immediately are made to feel very humble. Spiritual values cannot be measured in terms of statistics. As we gaze at the large number that have been attending our activities, it would be very boastful to claim that we had made any great degree of progress. Yet we do know that the association has been a vital factor in the lives of at least some of our members. As we go forward it is with the earnest desire that the Y. W. C. A. may increasingly mean to the young women of our city an opportunity for that "more abundant life."

Respectfully submitted,

M. JEAN ESTEY,

General Secretary.

Directors Elected.

The election of directors for a three years term was announced by Miss Jennie Ruseley, one of the tellers, who reported 231 votes cast for the following: Mrs. G. F. Rice, Miss Alma Tyler, Mrs. Frank Thompson, Dr. Mary Gage-Day, Mrs. C. B. Dickinson, Mrs. Seth Staples, Mrs. Harry Walker, Mrs. Maurice Safford.

The nominating committee is self-perpetuating; one year's committee appoints the committee for the following year. The 1924 committee was composed of Mrs. Maurice Safford, Miss Minnie Millard, Mrs. William Kingman, Miss Beulah Smith, Miss Margaret Ruseley. The committee for 1925 will be: Miss Sarah Horton, chairman; Miss Idella Hyde, Miss Lucinda Rich, Mrs. Harry Smith, Mrs. Sam Watts.

An amendment to the constitution and by-laws that the nominating committee be chosen with two members from the board of directors and three from the members at large was adopted.

The speaker for the evening was Miss Carolyn E. Allen of the Y. W. C. A. of Yokohama, Japan. Miss Allen appeared in full Japanese costume that was very beautiful and explained the symbolism of the long-sleeved kimono.

Miss Allen first told of the beauty of Japan before the earthquake; its peace and contentment; its prosperity and growth. Then she told of conditions directly following horrors of fire and water. She told of the keen sense of the awfulness of the disaster, but even more the beautiful and kindly and helpful acts that blossomed everywhere as the outgrowth of the needs of the hour.

Japan is fast recovering industrially and with that recovery many young Japanese girls are becoming business girls with practically no knowledge of the world and of mankind to guide and protect them. It is a serious problem and one that the Y. W. C. A. is doing all in its power to solve rightly for all concerned.

The program closed with two bird-like vocal solos, well sung by Miss Jessie Cowley, accompanied by Miss Ruth Dana, and two equally enjoyable violin solos played by Miss Mac Eckert, formerly a member of the Kingston Symphony orchestra, accompanied by Miss Kroeger.

After the program these present met Miss Allen and chatted in groups, enjoying sandwiches and hot coffee served by the girls.

No Stated Sum for Church

The government of England does not appropriate any specific sum of money in support of the church. One of its important sources of income is the Queen Anne's bounty, a fund formed by Queen Anne in 1704 to support the poorer living of the Church of England. There are also large endowments. Church rates are voluntary and cannot be recovered by law.—Washington Star.

Child Is Convicted of Murder

William Cavalier, only fourteen years old, has been convicted of murder in the first degree by a jury at Pottsville, Pa., for the cold-blooded killing of his grandmother, Mrs. Mary Cavalier, whom he shot several times last September and robbed. The jury was out more than twenty-four hours.

Marriage Solemnity

The two stages through which marriage has developed are: Marriage by force and marriage by contract. In the latter stage of development there was a solemn surrender of the bride by her guardian in the Anglo-Saxon marriage service. This ceremony is the praesent, and the custom of "giving away the bride" is traced to this solemn surrender.

Balance on hand January 1, 1925	$12,283 88
Of this balance $10,000.00 belongs in the permanent building fund while the $2,283.88 is in the account for running expenses.

New Court Rules In Ulster County

Appellate Division of Supreme Court Adopts Two New Rules of Practice for Lawyers Regarding Terms of Court and Cases.

County Clerk John H. Saxe is having notices printed calling attention to members of the bar to new rules ordered by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, Third Department, at the term commencing at Albany, January 6. The rules are applicable to the county of Ulster and become effective at the March term of the Supreme court. The order, sent to County Clerk Saxe, made by the presiding and associate justices are as follows:

By virtue of section 83 of the Judiciary Law, it is hereby ordered that the following rules, applicable to the county of Ulster, be and the same hereby are made and provided, to-wit:

RULE I.

In the county of Ulster where a party has served a notice of trial and a note of issue for a term at which the case is not tried it is not necessary for him to serve a new notice of trial or file a new note of issue for succeeding terms, and the action must remain on the calendar until it is disposed of; except that the justice holding the second trial term and the justice holding the third trial term in each succeeding year shall make an order, at the opening of the term, directing the clerk to mail to each attorney whose name appears as attorney in a case on the calendar which has been at issue for more than two years, an order to show cause, returnable at the opening of the court on the second Monday of the term, why such case should not be stricken from the calendar; and such justice shall on that day call the calendar and strike therefrom all such cases where no reason is shown for their continuance thereon.

RULE II.

On the Friday immediately preceding the first day of any term of the Supreme court held in the county of Ulster the clerk of the court shall, at the court room in the county court house at 2 p. m. on that day, call the calendar of causes marked ready for trial by both parties shall constitute the causes from which the day calendar shall be made up from day to day until all such causes have been disposed of. Such causes must be ready for trial when reached, and if not ready will be marked over the term unless adjourned by the justice holding the term upon good reason shown by affidavit to have arisen after such causes have been marked ready.

THE BALLROOM SCENE IS PAINTED IN PASTELS

(By Eleanor Gunn.)

White frocks lose little of their prestige even in the midst of the sea of color into which the ballroom floors are transformed. Here is a graceful version of the short and interrupted tunic, its edges dripping with crystal fringe. The gown is a silver and white brocade, and is an excellent example of the wisdom of making handsome fabrics into simple frocks. The flower on the shoulder is often a chrysanthemum, or a cluster of violets, violets not having waited for spring to blossom forth in Mayfair.

The growing partiality to pastel shades is frequently the subject of comment in circles concerned with dress. Dress is one of the delicate colors advanced, and nerveless blue, which belongs to the pastel range, is another. Brighter yellows are yet another range not too recent in character. While mauve, orchid, and lavender are reckoned as among the leading tones for Southern wear—the lighter frock most often appearing in these colors. The more striking combination of coral or beige and black, may be mentioned among the delicate color contrasts, while red is never entirely absent from any smart scene; often, however, being only introduced incidentally, as in the flower, for instance.

ELLENVILLE

Ellenville, Jan. 14.—James Belin, proprietor of "Candyland," the confectionery store and ice cream parlor on the corner of Canal and Market streets, has sold his business to George Zeiss and son, Clement Zeiss of Ellenville. It is understood that Clement Zeiss will be in active charge of the business. The business changed hands on January 1st and the new owners are now in charge.

Mrs. Michael Weber slipped and fell on New Year's Day while on her way home and sustained a broken ankle. She is resting comfortably as can be expected but will, of course, be confined to the house for some time.

The Ellenville schools were closed Wednesday afternoon, January 14, owing to the death of Dr. George F. Wilcox, president of the board of education.

S. Maxwell Taylor was again chosen master of Wawarsing Lodge, P. & A. M., at the annual meeting held last Wednesday evening. Other officers elected were: S. W. Silas, V. Demarest; treasurer, L. E. Vernon; and secretary, Ulster Palmer. W. S. Doyle was elected a trustee for three years, to succeed himself. At the regular meeting last Wednesday evening, Master Taylor announced his appointments for the year as follows: Joseph Watson, S. D.; Earl Hasbrouck, J. D.; Gary Brown, S. M. C.; Ed. Vanderlyn, J. M. C.; Ira Schoonmaker, J. R. A. Dunn, steward; F. J. Campbell, organist; the Rev. L. F. Piper, chaplain, and P. A. Buellmann, marshal. Steward Dunn served a fine chicken supper before the business session began. At the annual meeting a letter was read by Secretary Palmer from J. L. Bloomer, a member of the lodge, who now resides in Pennsylvania, and also a cablegram of greeting from Silas W. Demarest. The final report on the Masonic hall was rendered, which showed the proceeds to be $341.11. This amount was unanimously voted to the Veterans' Memorial Hospital.

The installation of the elected and appointed officers of the Order of the Eastern Star, Wawarsing Lodge, No. 253 took place on Monday evening, January 13th. A banquet was served at 6:30 and the business session began at 8 o'clock. Ulster Palmer acted as installing officer, with R. W. Nellie Virginia Sawyer, P. D. D. G. M., acting as Grand Marshal and R. W. Elizabeth Frear, P. D. D. G. M., acting as Assistant Marshal. The following officers were installed: W. M., Eva Van Kirk; W. P., Ulster Palmer; Asso. M., Jennie R. Malines; treasurer, Cora B. Wells; secretary, Josie A. Saunders; cond., Fannie Lambert; asso. cond., Mabel Schoonmaker; chaplain, Gertrude Hasbrouck; marshal, Bertha Griffin; historian, Tracy Vanderlyn; organist, May Faler; warder, Augusta Johnson; sentinel, Ira Schoonmaker; Adah, Barbara Kelb; Ruth, Cora Sawyer; Esther, Nellie LaForge; Martha, Emma Johnson; Electa, Florence Ball; color bearer, Bessie Van Alen; trustee, Elmer LaForge. At the close of the ceremonies W. M. Van Kirk and W. P. Palmer gave interesting addresses. Mrs. W. S. Malines pledged support and loyalty of the new officers and then presented W. M. Van Kirk with a diamond past matron's pin, the gift of her official staff during 1924.

Growth Comes From Within.
As increased production, diversified crops and good roads mean added prosperity to the farmer, so does industrial expansion with increasing pay rolls mean more business for the merchant. An analysis of the industrial growth of American communities has shown that the growth has been largely from within; that is, through the expansion of existing industries and the coming in of similar and related industries as the local labor market is created. Attempts to force industrial expansion through advertising campaigns and bonuses have generally proven ineffective. The financing of industry is a banking and not a community proposition. Once established, however, the industry should receive full cooperation from the Chamber of Commerce in bringing about conditions making for betterment in the community life of its employees, such as housing, recreational and educational facilities, and cheap and adequate transportation to and from work. Parks and play grounds, school houses and public works and utilities should be expanded to keep pace with the growth of industrial population and the establishment of new industrial centers, and the Chamber of Commerce should be the leader in all this.

Retail Stores Important.
The retail stores of the town are a most important community asset and should be viewed in that light by the Chamber of Commerce. It is the store that brings the farmer into town to trade. The larger and more varied the stock, the better their reputation for good values and fair prices, and more attractive the displays, the better the service and the more courteous and accommodating the salesmen the more rapidly the town will grow as a retail trading center and the wider will be the territory from which it draws trade. Looking upon the store as a community asset the Chamber of Commerce should lend its aid to all movements for better merchandising, styles shows, dollar day sales, buy-up campaigns, exchange of credit information, trade excursions and salesmanship classes. It should be on guard to protect the good name of the town as a place in which to trade and active in extending trade.

It is not difficult to vision the time when the retail merchant members of the Chamber of Commerce will, as such, adopt a code of business ethics and provide machinery for hearing and passing upon complaints of customers. When that time comes, membership in the chamber will mean that the merchant has subscribed to principles of square dealing and realizes that the public as well as himself has an interest in the good name of the town as a retail trading center and that he and his fellow members of the chamber are on guard to protect that good name.

The State C. of C.
The Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York is rendering its members a service through the conduct of commercial examinations and the issuance of proficiency certificates to applicants for clerkship and other positions. Business men members have come to place high value on these proficiency certificates which are issued by an impartial committee only after thorough examination of the applicant as to his education, training, personality and mental equipment.

Work for Young Men.
Chambers of Commerce are beginning to realize the need young men have for guidance and have encouraged the formation of young men groups that meet at regular intervals to be addressed by successful local business men on the fundamentals of business and salesmanship, and frequent outside experts are brought in from outside to deliver talks on business subjects.

The object of salesmanship classes is to furnish instruction in business fundamentals, arouse interest, inspire loyalty to the business and employer, arouse curiosity as to the way of things, stimulate mental effort to ascertain why certain business rules are made, increase effort to please customers, and to cultivate the habit of saving earnings as future capital.

If you can plan so as to even in a slight degree improve production and transportation facilities, bring about better relations in industry, increase and improve retail trade, stimulate your sales force to greater and more intelligent effort, and better living, educational and recreational conditions, you will have taken your part in the national program.

Relations With Government.
The Chamber of Commerce of the United States believes that the relation of government toward industry and commerce is primarily that of preserving equality of opportunity for all—an equal chance to every citizen to win his position in accordance with his character, ability and efforts. Individual initiative, strengthened by education, safeguarded by publicity, stimulated by active and free competition, in the guarantee of sound national policies, laws and administrative action should teach business enterprise with great care and only to preserve a fair field to all.

A wholesome standard of living is essential to general contentment. That standard depends upon the intelligence, work and thrift of the individual citizen and improves as the total production of the country increases. Hence, restriction of production or obstruction of under-standings that standard, resulting in injury to all citizens, of every class.

Service The Foundation.
The foundation of all enterprise is primarily that of service to the community, and this service is most effective under private initiative. The community's reliance of that service and its reward for it, are most fairly expressed when secured by individual initiative, under conditions of free competition. The value of and the reward for such service cannot be safely apportioned by the arbitrary decisions of government agencies.

I have visited hundreds of chambers of commerce throughout the United States and the more I see of organized communities the more confidence I have that the spirit of America will maintain peace at home and help restore order, and ultimately prosperity to a stricken world. We may each do our bit working in our own communities with the tools at our command, always having in mind that whatever of betterment we bring to ourselves we bring to the nation of which we are a part.

Report of Directors.
The Board of Directors of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce in submitting the report of accomplishments for the year just closing, do so with the thought in mind that it may answer the often asked question, "What is the Chamber of Commerce doing for Kingston, and why should we belong to this organization?" May we quote from the remarks of Irving T. Bush upon the occasion of his re-election as President of the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York on May 3, 1923: "I have to remind you again that the president and officers of this chamber can do very little without the support and cooperation of the membership at large," and again he said in answer to one of their members who felt that there was a let down in the standards of some of their work, "Whose fault is it?" "It is your fault and the fault of men like you, who think that when they meet here once a year and elect officers to carry on the work, they have discharged their full duty. This chamber can fulfill the usefulness which it should fulfill in the active business life of this city and state, and express your opinion for you in Albany and Washington and in the public press only if you are willing to sacrifice and give of yourself something to carry on the work here and to help support the action of its officers and president."

It is evident from this that the larger organizations have much the same problems that we have right here at home. Your Board of Directors have met at least once every month during the year to transact the business of the chamber and are endeavoring at all times to serve the best interests of the city. The time given to these meetings has been given willingly although it has often meant the sacrifice of time that should have been given to the personal affairs of the various directors.

Some of the outstanding features of the year's work should be brought to your attention.

Retail Merchants' Institute.
Cooperating with the retail merchants of the city, the chamber put on a week's course of intensive salesmanship and store problems for both employers and employees. The attendance at these meetings was not what was anticipated but many good ideas and helpful suggestions were secured. Of those who came to conduct this course probably Pryor Irwin was the most enjoyed and his talks were helpful indeed.

Kingston Community Hotel.
This project we believe will prove to be the outstanding result of the endeavor of the chamber for some years to come. As you are all aware, the chamber entered into contract with the Hockenbury System Incorporated, first, to make a survey to see if a hotel was needed. Upon their advice there was a need for a hotel of about 100 rooms, a campaign to sell stock to raise the needed amount was put on. As usual, enough of the citizenship of Kingston came forward to show their faith in this big community enterprise to put it over the top. Contracts were made with the American Hotel Corporation to manage same for a term of thirty years. The making of the plans has taken more time than we expected but it is our belief that we are safe in saying that the hotel will be opened for business before the close of 1925.

Kingston Industrial Exposition.
For the third time the Kingston Exposition was held this year in September. Our first exposition was held in October, which proved to be too late on account of the cold weather. The second year it was held in August, which gave us the advantage of the summer residents to draw upon for attendance and which proved to be the best year so far as attendance counted. This year we feel sure the exposition proved its worth to the exhibitors for many of them made direct sales enough to more than cover the expense of maintaining their booth and in addition all received a great advertising advantage which cannot be measured. Much of the success of the exposition this year was due to the splendid exhibit put on by the electrical contractors and to that of the Ulster County Farm and Home Bureau.

Farm and Home Bureau Activities.
The chamber is on record this year, as it has been in the past, in demonstrating its belief that every assistance possible should be extended to this splendid organization of our neighbors in the county.

To show our appreciation of their good work we have assisted in their membership drive for 1925, given them space at the exposition in which to display their products and helped to stage the biggest Farm Bureau and Chamber picnic ever held in this section. If our county friends needed any assurance from the merchants of Kingston of their good will it was surely given on this day when nearly 60 stores closed their doors at noon in order that the merchants and their employees might join in the good times provided.

With the assistance of the city administration we also helped the Market Growers' Association to maintain the Public Market this year.

Bus Terminals.
We have just spoken of the interest shown in those who live in the trade territory surrounding Kingston. This interest is mutual because a large percentage of Kingston's business comes from the outside of the city.

Those who come to Kingston arrive and depart by auto buses. The city has been endeavoring to line up this service in some business-like method that would provide suitable terminals which would be properly maintained for the use of their patrons. This has, in some measure at least, been accomplished.

It has been brought about by cooperative action on the part of the bus owners, the merchants, the chamber and the city. As it now stands the city has assumed the operation of the Central Terminal and the Bus Owners, Merchants and Chamber, the uptown and downtown terminal.

Employment Bureau.

Nearly every day people call at the chamber seeking employment. We are keeping a complete record of these and trust that as employers have need of help they will call on us for assistance in filling the positions open. This service is free.

Legislation.
Organizations seeking for the welfare of its members are constantly on the job at Washington and Albany. This is a well known fact. What they do not secure in the way of legislation this year does not discourage them from trying again at later sessions. It is also a fact that business has been more than lax in protecting their own interests in such matters, until they are suddenly confronted by a crisis such as has developed recently in the much argued Child Welfare Bill which will come before the State Legislature at its present session for ratification. We are not blaming the employer for seeking to protect his interest, but we do believe the employer should also be awake to his own interests and that he should be able to present his side of the argument in just as strong a manner and with just as solid a front as the other side. To this end, the chamber throughout the year is bringing to the attention of its members such matters of legislation as in our judgment calls for action on their part.

Clearing House of Dates.
For two years we have been trying to have the various organizations of the city use the chamber for the purpose of establishing dates for their activities that would not conflict with other functions previously announced.

We make a plea at this time that you cooperate with us along these lines. With the plan working as it should we will publish in the papers once a week, or once a month, a list of coming events which should prove of benefit to all concerned as well as to the public at large.

New Industries.
Perhaps the most frequent question put to the chamber is why we do not secure factories that will give employment to men. In answer to this question we want to assure you that we have not let an opportunity go by which would bring new industries to our city.

Our industrial committee has been constantly on the job and has investigated each inquiry received and some definite results are expected during 1925.

In cases brought to our attention during the year we have found that either we have not the space required or that the proposition was a stock selling plan needing more financing than was thought wise to give.

In response to an inquiry received a week or so past, at four o'clock Saturday afternoon one of our directors and your secretary were at the firm's office in New York Monday morning at 10:30 explaining the advantages of Kingston. Since then two of our directors have called there again. We simply cite this case in order to show that no time is lost in following up a lead.

Advertising Our City.
It was the chamber's money that made possible the printing and distribution of 8,000 maps and books describing the Catskill Mountain region of which Kingston is the real gateway. This cost $1,000.00. In addition to this, Kingston advertising was carried in the Home County Magazine and in the Historic Hudson at an additional cost of approximately $250.00.

The Transportation Guides issued during the summer months have been in demand.

A Kingston folder is now in the works and will be issued early in year. This will fill a long needed demand and we wish at this time to thank those who by their support have made this publication possible.

Industrial Baseball League.

This feature of our work we are assured does much to promote good fellowship among the employees of our industries. This year it was more successful than ever before both in the way it was managed and in the interest shown by the players and their friends. This year the cup offered by the chamber was won by the U. & D. Shop team.

Amalgamation.

Memberships are carried in the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, National Association of Commercial Organization Secretaries, New York State Secretaries' Conference.

National Conference on City Planning.

National Association of Retail Secretaries.

New York Hotel Association.

Hudson Valley Federated Chamber of Commerce.

Ulster County Farm Bureau.

Finally.

We are justly proud of our record as an organization. We have kept our expenses down and have, as our treasurer's report shows, lived within our means. Our bills have been paid twice each month and there is a small balance on the right side of the ledger.

In addition to this we have put by a nest egg of $500.00 looking forward to the time when we can occupy a home of our own.

Our thanks are extended to all those who have helped make this work possible, especially to those who have given their time as well as their financial support.

Your continued support in an increasing measure is asked for during the year 1925.

SIX 'CARMENS' DIE AT LOVERS' HANDS

Real Life Tragedies Similar to the Cigaret Girl of the Opera.

Toronto.—Generations of sentimental opera lovers have wept over the tragedy of Carmen, stabbed in the last act by the infatuated Jose. The story of Carmen is regarded as so unusual and so poignant that it is enriched in an immortal setting. Perhaps not one in a thousand of those whose emotions are aroused by it ever consider that it is anything but a fragment of imagination—something that never, or very rarely, happens in real life.

Yet in a few months there have been in the Province of Ontario alone no fewer than six "Carmen" killings, six young girls, each slain by her lover, under circumstances as poignant as those surrounding the death of Carmen, though lacking, perhaps, the romantic setting that graces the story of the Spanish dancer. A curious feature of this epidemic is that in no case has the reputedly hot blood of Latin races been involved.

City Life Appealed.

Beatrice Fee, a nineteen-year-old girl, living on a farm near Lindsay, was engaged to marry Fred McGaughey, a neighbor, thirty-two years old. She decided she didn't want to get married until she was twenty. During the interval of waiting she went to Toronto and got a position in a department store. In her new surroundings her good looks made an impression. City life appealed to her. When she went home for a holiday, McGaughey urged her to marry him at once. He seemed to sense something different in her attitude. They argued all day. In the evening he took her for a drive in his motor car, and in a lonely swamp shot her again and again. She died in a few hours.

On December 5 last McGaughey was hanged for the crime. The defense claimed he was a victim of dementia praecox, but the evidence was discredited by a cushion. McGaughey had asked for a cushion while sitting in the dock, complaining that he was uncomfortable. Doctor Clark, for the prosecution, argued from that act that he was not a catatonic as alleged; that catatonics were not conscious of any such sensation of physical discomfort as McGaughey displayed. Further, Doctor Clark, pointed out that McGaughey had been repeatedly noticed in the act of swallowing while listening to the evidence. He declared that if McGaughey were a catatonic there would be little or no movement of the lips.

At London Gordon Dibdale, twenty-three, urged Christine Near, sixteen, to marry him. Her own and her mother's objections on account of her youth could not be overcome. So Dibdale took a double-barreled shotgun and waited on a corner till the girl got out of a street car on her way home. She joined him and they walked away casually. Suddenly the girl was seen running with Dibdale after her. He pointed his gun, fired and almost shot her left hand away. She tried to get behind a tree but the crazed lover fired again, the charge of shot entering her back and killing her instantly.

A jury found Dibdale insane and ordered his confinement in an asylum. Murder and Suicide.

At Prescott Ethel Stokes, a clergyman's daughter, a nurse in training, twenty-two, was urged by Harold C. Barrington, twenty-nine, an American farmer, to marry him. She refused. Using a double-barreled shot, Barrington fired at the girl from a distance of fifty feet. The wounds were fatal. Barrington jumped in his car and drove off. Some distance away he placed a fresh cartridge in his gun, put it to his head and pulled the trigger. The car with him dead at the wheel ran off the road and into an artificial lake where it was found with the corpse of Barrington hanging over the side.

In Hamilton, George King, twenty-five, wooed Eric Johnson, a pretty seventeen-year-old girl. King came to the Johnson house one evening about 10 o'clock. He acted quite normally. He gave the young brother of the girl 50 cents and sent him out to buy three bottles of pop. He stood in the parlor with the others singing while some one played the piano. Then he asked for a paper on which he calmly wrote a letter to his mother. He called Eric Johnson out to the veranda and asked her to delive the letter. And as she stepped forward to take it he shot her dead. The only explanation he gave afterward was that she "was going with other fellows."

A jury found him insane and committed him to an asylum.

A parallel in some respects to the Beatrice Fee tragedy is supplied by the case of Geraldine Durston, nineteen, of Watford. Like Beatrice, she was engaged to a neighbor, and, like Beatrice, she went to the city—London in her case. Her lover followed her. He said he found her "going with" another. He urged her till 2 o'clock in the morning to marry him. When she refused he walked the streets all night. At 7 next morning he called at her house again, forced himself into the room she occupied with another girl, asked her again to marry him, and, when she refused, whipped out a revolver and shot both girls. The companion, accidentally wounded, recovered, but his sweetheart died. Topping was hanged for the crime.

All Five Caught.

Thus of the five slayers here recorded not one escaped. Two went to the gallows, two were in asylums and one committed suicide.

The sixth case is not yet concluded. It is the tragedy of seventeen-year-old Beatrice Thorpe, the belle of the countryside near Cornwall. She was loved by Thomas Collision, twenty-nine, a farmer. For three years he has been infatuated with her, but was rebuffed both by the girl and by her parents. He went away, but could not forget, and a few weeks ago came home. Shortly after his return, on a Saturday night, as dusk was falling and Beatrice was tidying up her kitchen for Sunday, a shot rang out. A bullet crashed through the window. The girl fell. Other shots followed. In a few minutes the girl was dead.

When the police arrived at Collision's home they found him on his knees praying. At the inquest witnesses reported him as having said: "God made Beatrice Thorpe for me and I have a divine right to marry her."

"I shot her because I loved her," was what Collision told other witnesses, according to their evidence at the inquest. The trial has yet to take place.

Swedish Sports Boom

The nation-wide drive for funds to enable the Swedish Athletic association to engage expert foreign trainers has met with a heavy response, and the minimum sum required has been over-subscribed, according to an announcement just made at Stockholm. The widely known Swedish sportsman, Bo Ekstrand from Norrköping, has been elected president of the Swedish Athletic association and extensive plans are being made for further development of Swedish amateur athletics.

Conarty and Cooney Suspended

As players Roger Cooney and John Conarty have jumped their contracts with the Brooklyn Vlaston team of the Metropolitan Basketball League, for the purpose of playing with the Palace Five of Washington, D. C., President O'Brien has declared them suspended and ineligible to participate in further league contests.

In order to permit independent basketball managers in and around Greater New York, who are using these men in conjunction with other Metropolitan League players, to make other arrangements, it was also decided that on and after January 18, 1925, no Metropolitan League teams or players will be allowed to appear against or with teams using players Cooney and Conarty, without incurring a severe fine. One exception is granted to players of the League, who are in the employ of the Brooklyn Edison Company and play on that industrial team, to appear with Cooney in games of the Edison team, but no Metropolitan League teams or players may appear against Brooklyn Edison with Cooney in the lineup, until the suspension has been lifted.

Earl Yingling Did Not Like Pop Flies

Earl Yingling as a pitcher, had merit, but he had no relish for pop flies and would run away from them, leaving the catch to any of his infield mates. His shirking caused several accidents, but he declared he could not and would not attempt to catch pop flies. However, he agreed he would help out by calling to the infielder who should take the fly he dodged.

Results were not satisfactory, for Yingling usually called to the wrong infielder and there were several mixups. Joe Canillon told him to either quit calling altogether or see better judgment. Yingling promised to do his best to keep from getting his infield all balled up. And the next time a high pop fly was hit, and seemed to be coming down on his head he ran out of the box and instead of calling for Joe or Jim to take it, he shouted as he ran: "You take it—men!"

Yankees Get Shocker

Urban Shocker, star pitcher for the St. Louis Browns, has been traded to the New York Yankees for Joe Bush and two other pitchers.

No Riches for Boxers

In these days when 12 and 15-round championship battles bring the principals a fortune, it is interesting to recall that in 1887 Jake Kilrain and Jim Smith battled 106 rounds in a contest for the world championship. Darkness ended the fighting and the bout was called a draw.

The two gladiators, who in this one contest had fought the equivalent of ten of the average title bouts of these times, were rewarded with the magnificent sum of $2,500 each.

Players Will Be Numbered

At a special meeting of the American association owners, held at Hartford, just before the managers left, it was decided by unanimous vote that all players be numbered on the field during the coming season. The players will wear the numbers on the sleeves of their shirts, which will correspond to the numbers on the program. The numbers are to be six inches high so they will be easily discernible from the stands.

Fennelly Holds Record

Frank Fennelly was a great ball player in his day, which was before Ty Cobb, G. Alexander or W. Johnson saw the light of day. Fennelly played with the Atlantic City club and later with the Brooklyn club. While with the Atlantic City, in a game played May 26, 1900, Fennelly made six hits in six times up—a double, three triples and two home runs, total bases 19. This is the record for total bases in any league or any period.

Can Hit Either Way

Jack Smith, outfielder for the St. Louis Cardinals and left-hand batter, who was supposed to be unable to hit southpaws. Last season Manager Riskey had to use him in the regular lineup all the time, facing the left-handers. Smith surprised everybody by keeping to his old .300 hitting mark.

"Fat" Crawford, first baseman, has been purchased by the Louisville club of the American association from the Chattanooga (Southern association) team.

Modern football is played at such a terrific speed that it takes four or five days for the body to recover completely from the strain of a single game.

The best temporary fight, says a sport writer, will be for the biggest purse on record. Among such a prize is without honor in fewer than six figures.

The dearest sight in the world, says a sport writer, is an honest wrestling bout. It is the misfortune of most of us, then, never to have seen a framed match.

Richard Marsh, one of the foremost trainers of race horses on the English turf, has retired from active duty. For many years he was known as the "trot" trainer, having had charge of the racing establishments of the late King Edward and of King George.

Foul Calling Record Broken

Referee Engasser Calls 92 Fouls in Kingston-Yonkers Game, Which Finally Ended in Kingston's Favor—New Ruling Received Unfavorable Treatment.

Faking out time for all fouls committed during the game, so that forty minutes of actual playing might be had, did not receive a fair show in Wednesday evening's contest at the local armory court, when Kingston defeated the Yonkers quintet by a 46 to 38 tally.

Referee Engasser was the cause for the treatment of this innovation in the court game. Of all the foul callers Engasser by a wide margin was the crown, brown derby. This martinet called no less, no more than 92 fouls, in his first appearance as the eleventh man in the local cage. Half the number called is too much in any good game, therefore the unfair trial of the new ruling.

The game might have proved a fine exhibition, if the players were allowed to play. If Engasser refereed a number of other games played at the local court, which were rough, his high total for calling fouls would surely have been reached. Just how many fouls he can call in a game without being lynched has not been given out.

Carl Husta Leads.

Carl Husta was again the leading scorer with 15 points, closely followed by Joe Dreyfus with 14 points. Both Husta and Dreyfus gave exhibitions of real basketball playing.

Dreyfus in a guard position for the visitors had the job of playing Riconda and this pair worked well. Husta played McElwain.

The game was nip and tuck from start to finish and at half time the Morgenweckers were leading by a 24 to 20 count.

In the final session four field baskets in a row by Carl Husta kept the local representatives in front. It was impossible for the players to perform in true basketball fashion, for Engasser's whistle was continuously whistling.

Whether the ruling will be part of the code in the Metropolitan League and Engasser not a member of the same league or vice versa, remains to be seen.

Scientist Calls Bryan
Foe of Religion

Professor Edward L. Rice, of the Ohio Wesleyan University, speaking before the American Association for the Advancement of Science, in Washington, bitterly arraigned William Jennings Bryan for his opposition to the Darwinian Theory of evolution. Dr. Rice declared Mr. Bryan is a "foe not only of science, but also of religion," and accused him of ignorance of many of the points involved in the old issue of science and religion.
